PUBLIC HEALTH GUIDANCE: Compassionate Purposes

Please refer to our dedicate COVID-19 website for the latest up to date information and guidance to protect yourself and our community from the transmission of COVID-19.

- To fulfil the requirements of the local care home visitor standards, you are required to seek advice from the Department of Health & Social Care, Care Home Assessment and Rapid Response Team (CHARRT). The CHARRT team can provide advice and guidance to visitors arriving on the Island who intend to visit relatives or friends in care homes. The purpose of this is to ensure there is relevant clinical advice and guidance agreed prior to travel to meet the individual needs, particularly in relation to supporting compassionate visits where the full completion of 14 day quarantine may not be feasible. You can contact the CHARRT team by emailing CHARRT@gov.im
- You may be met and collected from the port in a car by a friend or family member. It is recommended the arriving passenger sits in the rear of the car, diagonally from the driver, high touch points (car door, seatbelts etc.) should be sanitised after use, face coverings are mandatory for all non IOM residents having arrived on the Island within the last 14 days.
- You are recommended to self-isolate within a hotel room or other self-contained establishment, to mitigate the transmission risk of COVID-19. You must consume all of your meals in your Hotel Room. Arrangements will be made to ensure that meals are delivered to your Hotel Room. You must take all reasonable steps to avoid contact with the persons delivering your food.
- It is recommended the place of self-isolation is as close to the permitted place to be attended for compassionate reasons to reduce travel time and so far as possible encourage walking (whilst wearing face coverings). Please refer to our online guidance on how to self-isolate safely <https://covid19.gov.im/general-information/self-isolation/>
- The purpose of self-isolation is to ensure you can remain isolated from other persons to prevent the potential transmission of COVID-19. Therefore during self-isolation no other person should enter your specified premises (or hotel room).

- It is recommended that wherever you are self-isolating (e.g. a hotel room, or alone or in an excluded manner from the rest of the household (who are not self-isolating) that social gatherings and other visitors should not attend the specified premises for the period of your self-isolation.
- It is recommended that no other person should visit the premises other than (i) a medical professional providing care to you or a member of your household; (ii) a member of the emergency services who requires entry for the purpose of their work. You should advise any such person you are in self-isolation to ensure necessary precautions can be taken by yourself and the visitor to mitigate the spread of COVID-19.
- In the event you choose to self-isolate with other persons who are not subject to these mandatory, legal requirements to self-isolate (as outlined in the above conditions); the following public health guidance is recommended:
 - If you are self-isolating in a household with others who are not required to self-isolate you must avoid contact as far as possible. This means having your own room and remaining in it as far as possible. You must not share a bedroom with anyone who is not self-isolating. Your room should be well-ventilated with a window to the outside that can be opened. Keep the door closed.
 - Use a separate bathroom from the rest of the household, if available. If you have to share a bathroom regular cleaning will be required. If a separate bathroom is not available, consider drawing up a bathroom rota for washing or bathing. You should use the facilities last, before thoroughly cleaning the bathroom. You should use separate towels from other household members, both for drying yourself after bathing or showering and for hand hygiene purposes.
 - You should avoid using shared spaces such as the kitchen whilst others are present. Take your meals back to your room to eat. Use a dishwasher (if available) to clean and dry your used crockery and cutlery. If this is not possible, wash them by hand using detergent and warm water and dry them thoroughly, using a separate tea towel.
- You should ensure you have adequate local support and access to the delivery of food or medicines to your specified place of self-isolation. This may include the use of room-service where you are isolating at a hotel. Social distancing and good hand hygiene is essential to ensure any food or other items can be safely transferred to you whilst in self-isolation e.g. leaving items outside the premises door, therefore avoiding direct person to person contact.
- Information on support and local services who may be able to assist you safely whilst in self-isolation may be accessed by the COVID-19 Community Support Information Line – (this local Isle of Man service is for non-medical calls and queries) by telephoning 01624 686262.
- Whilst persons who have been living on the Isle of Man for longer than 14 consecutive days are not mandated to socially distance, it is recommended since you have recently arrived from a potentially COVID-19 infected area, you are advised to adopt 2m socially distance standard at all times.
